CHRISTMAS Tree Balls, giving a special appearance to a Christmas Tree. He has colored Candles for lighting Christmas Trees; a fine assortment of the ab-

Mexico.

There seems to be no end, and no prospect of any, to the governmental changes, revolutions, and internal disorders of this unhappy country. By late advice, it appears that a revolt of a large portion of the army, under Gen. Zuloaga, on the 11th of January, has led to the overthrow of President Comonfort's administration, and the ascension of Gen. Z. to the Presidency. The Mexican nation, consisting of some twenty-five States, has for the last twenty years claimed to be a consolidated republic, modeled in some measure after our own; but it has been, in fact, most of the time, little better than a military despotism. Its Presidents have generally been military characters, whose election and support depended largely upon their popularity with the army; and when this reliance has failed, they have gone to the dogs. Gen. Santa Anna, perhaps one of the ablest men of Mexico, has been in this way repeatedly elevated to the head of the government, and as often deposed from his authority and expelled from the country.

The aggregate population of the Mexican States is from seven to eight millions, or from one quarter to one-third as large as that of the United States; and the territory they occupy is rather less than one-third as great as that of our Union. The people are a mongrel race—those of Spanish blood and descent, who constitute the more intelligent and enterprising portion; forming about one-fourth of the whole; another quarter are Indians, of whom those in the southerly section are more or less civilized; and the remaining half of the population are a mixture of Spanish, Indian and Negro blood.

In all the elements of a prosperous civilization—in material wealth, commerce, manufactures, education, and native enterprise—the difference between Mexico and the United States is world-wide in our favor. The incessant and violent changes in their governmental arrangements would be most unfavorable to the prosperity of the Mexican people, even if they possessed the intelligence and enterprising spirit of other and more fortunate nations—which they generally and evidently do not. With a soil and climate which might make her the garden of the world—with an extensive seaboard on two great oceans, and mineral wealth beyond human calculation—Mexico is yet a most thriftless, helpless, and unenterprising country. The problem of her regeneration, elevation, and prosperity, is one, of which we shall hardly attempt the solution.

THIRTY-FIFTH CONGRESS.

First Session.

Washington, Thursday, Feb. 25.

SENATE.

Mr. Mason presented resolutions, asking information as to the condition of the navy for many years past; also relative to captures of vessels and prize money during the last war.

Mr. Childress presented a letter from Mr. Shields, and moved that he take his seat as Senator from Minnesota. The letter argues that Minnesota is a sovereign State and one of the members of the United States. It refers to several precedents for the guidance of the Senate in the matter.

A division took place as to whether it was a privileged question.

HOUSE.

Mr. Quitman, from the committee on military affairs, reported a bill authorizing the organization of a regiment of mounted volunteers, for the defence of the frontiers of Texas; also authorizing the President to call out as the occasion may require, four additional regiments of volunteers.

Mr. Quitman expressed his opinion that this was more indicative of public sentiment than any yet presented. Action thereupon was postponed till Wednesday.

The Matteson expulsion case was called up.

Mr. Harris of Illinois expressed his firm belief that the House had power, and it was its duty to pass the resolution, and to do it at once. All the facts in the case were in the form of depositions, with which members were probably familiar.

Mr. Keitt said that on a former occasion he had moved as an act of justice the postponement of the case, having been informed that Mr. Matteson was sick. He had since then learned that the statement was untrue.

Some accounts say that he was sick, and others that he was enjoying better health than ever. He read a statement from the family physician, to the effect that Mr. Matteson had not seen a well day for six months past, and during the last few weeks had suffered more than ever.

Mr. Seward said a more important question could not be presented. He voted for the expulsion of Mr. Matteson, because he thought it just, but he would defend his constitutional rights in the House.

The last Congress had exhausted its constitutional powers over the subject. Where is the law or the clause in the constitution prohibiting the people from electing any man they choose.

Mr. Stanton contended that the House must keep within the spirit of constitutional rules, and the rules of the common law, namely, that no man shall be punished twice for the same offence.

Mr. Matteson has already been tried, convicted and punished.

LOCAL NEWS.

Republican Meeting last night.

A Republican Meeting was held at Narragansett Hall last evening.—Oliver Read, Esq., was chosen Chairman, and George T. Hammond, Secy.

Resolutions were offered by Mr. Coggeshall, to the effect that the meeting ought to instruct its delegates to refuse to vote in Convention for any nomination of a State Ticket and endorsing the Free State and Tariff resolutions. Considerable discussion ensued. Col. R. H. Hazard, Jr. favoring the Free State, and objecting to the Tariff resolution. John T. Bush, Esq., and Thomas Coggeshall Esq. favoring the passage of the whole, and Messrs. Cottrell, Hopkins, Peckham, Allyn, Watson, and Purry objecting to the passage. They were lost by a vote of 16 to 5.

The following delegates were then elected: ROBERT B. CRANSTON, ROBERT R. CARR, DANIEL WATSON, E. T. HOPKINS, FRANCIS B. PECKHAM, GEORGE T. HAMMOND.

It was then resolved that the delegation have power to fill any vacancies that occur.

The meeting then adjourned.

OLIVER READ, Chairman, GEORGE T. HAMMOND, Secy.

GRAND CONCERT OF THE MUSICAL INSTITUTE.

As we conjectured, Aquidneck Hall was filled on Thursday evening with crowds of our music loving citizens, who had been drawn together to listen to the second concert of the "Institute" this season.

At half past seven the impatient audience hailed with tumultuous applause the appearance of the members of the Society as they came forward on the stage, and rendered in their best style, the first piece on the Programme, MOZART's celebrated "Benedictus" from his 12th Mass, the solo of which were given by Miss Copeland and Mrs. Tourjee, and Messrs. Tourjee and Holloway in their usual happy style. The parts of Miss Copeland and Mr. Holloway were extremely difficult and were well sustained as were also those of Mr. & Mrs. Tourjee.

The Quartette, "Let Me In" or a "Life's Picture," is a sweet and pathetic production and was extremely well sung by Messrs. Stevens and Irwin and Messrs. Swinburn and Coggeshall. The last of whom, Mr. Coggeshall, has got one of the richest voices we have ever heard, and he showed the power of it to much advantage in a capital song called "Just twenty years ago," but we should judge that his voice with its vast natural power would be very much improved by a little more attention to, and improvement in the "art divine."

Messrs. Tourjee and Holloway showed their good taste in the selection and admirable execution of the Duett "Flow gently Deva," which is a prime favorite and was by many considered the "gem" of the evening.

Händels, "Angels ever bright and fair" was performed both as a solo and chorus. The solo was sung by Miss Copeland, in her best style and although we have before heard the same delightful strains we were never more pleased with the execution of it and are glad to see that her natural diffidence which we have before noticed is being something of a drawback to her vocal execution, has worn off very much, as we predicted, and every concert shows an improvement on the natural powers with which she has been invested.

"My Home in New England," is a Quartette which met with considerable applause and was sung with much feeling by Misses Stanley and Barker and Messrs. Swinburn and Coggeshall, as was also that prime favorite of ours "The Dearest Spot on earth to me is home," sung by Misses Copeland and Irwin, and Messrs. Davis and Holloway; after which came "Händels," Grand (double) Chorus, "He Gave them Hail Stones for Rain," which was produced in really a masterly manner by the whole society, aided by an introductory from the orchestra which would be "hard to beat" by any set of amateurs of whom we know.

The second part was ushered in by a fine chorus for "the fireman" and a song by Mr. French, which was well received.

"Banks of the old Genesee" is quite a favorite, it was sung by Miss Lake and Mrs. Tourjee and Messrs. Stanley and Davis, the latter of which sang the solo in a sweet and easy style which called forth much applause.

The chorus "Gallant Fireman," together with a solo by Mr. Kaul, was much enjoyed, especially by the boys who evidently recognised the drum accompaniment as a "sight touch" of fourth of July in mid winter.

The comic duett by "Mr. & Mrs. Jones," alias Miss Copeland and Mr. Tourjee, was as amusing as true. It was received by more applause than any other piece, which proves that our citizens are not as yet impatient their taste in musical culture sufficiently to appreciate a composition of a higher order and from down comic music of this character. Well! Well!—Mr. Tourjee must be patient with us and give us a little fun now and then to keep our spirits up in these dull times even if it does not agree with his refined ideas of Musical perfection.

The (Double) Trio of "Strike home for deeds of daring" was sung entirely by male voices, and well received, and the "Sleighing Song" was a right jolly affair interspersed with the jingling of bells and the cracking of whips, so that it would have been easy to have imagined that we were going at the rate of "two forty" behind as dull a team as Newport can furnish.

Mr. Holloway's song "The Jolly Bachelor" was another comic production and "brought down the house." It was followed by the GRAND FINALE the effect of which was good with the exception of the smoke, which we are assured by the government was not intended to be on the programme, and was only introduced through an oversight of those who were employed to get up the "fire" for the occasion, thus causing confusion in the audience and preventing the entire success of the music. Mr. Tourjee's voice was well adapted to the last solo and he entered heartily into the spirit of the music, but was unfortunately interrupted and what is characteristic of Fire scenes, the whole matter ended in smoke.

American Republican Convention.

Agreeably to the call of the Republican State Central Committee, an "American Republican Convention" was held in the State House in Providence, Wednesday afternoon, February 24th.

The Convention was called to order at a quarter past 2 o'clock, by Mr. Manchester, of the Central Committee.

William P. Sheffield was chosen temporary Chairman, and Horatio Rogers, Jr., and Thomas S. Anthony, Secretaries.

Credentials of Delegates were called for, and Senators and Representatives not represented by Delegates were invited to take seats as members of the Convention.

On motion of Mr. Clarke, of Cumberland, the present officers were invited to act as the permanent officers.

The call for the Convention was read, and the President announced the first business to be the nomination of candidates for State officers.

Elijah Dyer was nominated for Governor, by acclamation; Thomas G. Turner was in like manner nominated for Lieutenant Governor; and John R. Bartlett for Secretary of State.

Jerome B. Kimball and Christopher Robinson were nominated for Attorney General. Mr. Van Zandt was also nominated, but declined being a candidate.

A ballot was ordered, and resulted as follows:

Whole number of votes	96
Necessary for a choice	49
Jerome B. Kimball had	67
Christopher Robinson had	23
Wm. P. Sheffield had	2
Charles C. Van Zandt had	1
Benjamin T. James had	1
Thomas T. Hazard had	1
Joseph Oastit had	1

Jerome B. Kimball was then declared to be unanimously nominated.

Samuel A. Parker was unanimously nominated for General Treasurer.

On motion of Mr. Manchester, a committee of two from the county of Providence and one from each of the other counties, was appointed to draft resolutions. The chair announced the following gentlemen as that committee:

Providence County—Henry S. Bartlett and Edmund Thurber; Newport County—George Manchester; Bristol County—John B. Munro; Kent County—Amos Fiske; Washington County—Sylvester Robinson.

Messrs. Saunders, of Scituate, Knowles, of Newport, and Staples, of Barrington, were appointed to wait upon the candidates, notify them, severally, and ask their acceptance.

Mr. Clarke, of Cumberland, offered a resolution, providing for the election of an American Republican State Central Committee. He subsequently moved that a committee of one from each county be appointed to nominate a State Central Committee, and the motion prevailed.

Mr. Martin, of Providence, asked who were the present members of the Central Committee.

Mr. Clarke replied that there was at present no American Republican Central Committee. It was proposed to have one. The chair announced the following gentlemen as constituting the committee to nominate an American Republican State Central Committee: Dexter Clark, of Providence county; John G. Childs, of Newport county; Preston Day, of Bristol county; James Eldred, of Washington county; and John T. Knowles, of Kent county.

Mr. Sylvester Robinson, Mr. Van Zandt, Mr. Dyer, of Johnston, and the President, were severally called upon to make speeches, but declined. Mr. Van Zandt suggested that Col. Blodgett, who was a member of the Convention, should sing a Du-Bah song, and offered to join in the chorus.

The Colonel did not respond, and was supposed to have some objection to the accompaniment.

Mr. Pearce said the Speaker of the House of Representatives was present, and was always ready to speak on almost any subject.

Mr. Ballou was called upon, but declined speaking.

Mr. Van Zandt called upon Mr. Baker, of Warren, to give his views of the division of towns. There was no response.

Mr. Anthony, of Newport, would like to hear from Mr. Van Zandt on military appropriations.

Mr. Van Zandt thought the chances of an appropriation here were so small that a speech would not "pay."

At four o'clock, the committee appointed to nominate a State Central Committee, made their report, and it was accepted, as follows:

Providence County—Preston Bennet, Stephen N. Mason, E. J. Nighingale, George W. Hall, Isaac Saunders, John Kendrick.

Newport County—Edward W. Lawton, George Manchester, R. R. Hazard, Jr.

Bristol County—Wm. H. S. Bailey, H. H. Luther.

Kent County—Simon H. Greene, Henry Howard.

Washington County—James Eldred, D. F. Larkin.

Mr. Bartlett, from the committee on resolutions, reported the following, which were unanimously adopted:

WHEREAS, it has been customary for conventions of the Delegates of the people in convention assembled to nominate State officers, to declare the principles upon which they submit their nominations for the approbation of their constituents; and

WHEREAS, in the present critical aspect of the affairs of our national government, the observance of this time honored custom is not only eminently proper, but is an imperative duty; it is therefore, as the sense of this convention,

Resolved, That the American Republican party in this State is unalterably opposed to the extension of slavery into any of the Territories of the United States, and that we will resist by all legal and constitutional means any and all attempts of any of the departments of the national government to extend or nationalize this infernal institution, and that we regard the efforts of the present and last national administrations to force this obnoxious and fraudulent Kansas bill as an attempt to subvert and pervert the constitution of the United States by a State constitution framed by persons not elected by them, and known to be offensive to a great majority of the people, as a gross outrage upon civil liberty and constitutional rights, deserving the severest rebuke of a free and intelligent people.

Resolved, That we still recognize the right in Congress to enact all necessary laws and to do all things necessary to be done, in governing and controlling the Territories of the United States prior to their admission as States.

Resolved, That we heartily approve of the decision of the administration of James Monroe in relation to the non-interference of our government and people in the affairs of other nations, and that we are in favor of a rigid enforcement of the neutrality laws.

Resolved, That the American Republican party of Rhode Island is in favor of, and that they will exercise all their legal and constitutional power to secure the protection of American capital against the unjust competition of foreign labor and foreign capital.

Resolved, That we will use all fair and honorable means to secure the election of the candidates for State officers for the year ensuing, this day put in nomination by this convention.

The Central Committee were authorized to fill vacancies; and the thanks of the convention were voted to the officers.

The convention then adjourned without day.

GENERAL ASSEMBLY.

January Session.

THURSDAY, Feb. 24.

SENATE.

Mr. Knowles presented an act regulating the sale of junk and other second hand articles in Newport; which was received and referred to the Committee on the Judiciary.

A number of bills were received from the House, which were referred to their appropriate committees.

A communication to the Governor was read, from Chief Justice Ames, in relation to the preparation of the Revised Statutes; which was referred to the Committee on Accounts.

Mr. Gould, from the Committee on the Militia, reported back the abstract of the annual returns of the Militia of the State; which was ordered to be communicated to the House of Representatives.

The bank bill was called up, when Mr. Jencks of Providence offered the following substitute for the bill as it came from the House, and addressed the Senate at considerable length in support of the same:

AN ACT in amendment of Chapter one hundred and twenty-six, title XIX of the revised statutes, "Of banks and institutions for Savings."

It is enacted by the General Assembly, as follows:

Section 1. The Bank Commissioners shall each be allowed and paid for their services in their office, four dollars for each day employed in the performance of the duties of their office, and also their necessary traveling expenses; and they shall once in six months make out and deliver to the State Auditor an account of the number of days so employed, and of the amount of their several expenses, and the same shall be paid out of the State Treasury.

Section 2. The General Treasurer shall assess said amount upon the several Banks of this State, in proportion to their capital stock, and the amount so assessed, each bank is hereby required and directed to pay in such manner and at such time as the General Treasurer shall direct.

Section 3. If any Bank shall at any time have bills or notes of said bank in circulation exceeding fifty per cent. of its capital stock actually paid in, the directors for the time being shall forfeit one thousand dollars each, and the charter of said bank shall thereupon be declared null and void.

Section 4. No bank or issue or keep in circulation bills or notes to a greater amount than four times the amount of the specie actually in its vaults, or specially deposited in the vaults of a bank with which it has arranged to have been made to redeem its bills, and if any bank shall issue or keep in circulation bills or notes to a greater proportion than above required at any one time, the directors for the time being shall forfeit one thousand dollars each.

Section 5. Sections twenty-eight and forty three of chapter 123, title XX of the revised statutes are hereby repealed.

Other amendments were submitted by Mr. Eldred of North Kingstown, and his Honor the Lieutenant Governor.

Mr. Clark of Cumberland, spoke in opposition to the remarks of Mr. Jencks, and in favor of abolishing the Bank Commissioners.

Pending the discussion, the Senate adjourned.

HOUSE.

Mr. Wheaton of Providence, called up the report made by the Committee on the Judiciary upon the relinquishment to the heirs of Alexis Teste the right of the State to a certain estate in Providence, and moved its reference to a select committee of three members of the House, with instructions to report at the present session.

After a very long discussion, participated in by Messrs. Wheaton, Greene, and Clarke, of Providence, Sheffield and Van Zandt of Newport, Saunders of Scituate, Manchester of Portsmouth, and Boomer of Fall River, the motion was agreed to.

Messrs. Wheaton of Providence, Howard of Coventry, and Clarke of Providence were appointed the committee.

Mr. Perry of Newport, pursuant to previous notice, introduced bills defining and limiting the equity powers of the supreme court, and amending the chapter of the Revised Statutes relating to replevin; which were passed to a second reading and referred to a select committee.

Mr. Wheaton of Providence presented the petition of Edward P. Knowles and others of Providence for an act of incorporation under the name of the Mutual Fire Insurance Company; which was received and ordered to be continued until the next session of the General Assembly.

Mr. Perry of Newport submitted a resolution declaring that the decision of the Supreme Court in the case of Charles T. Hazard should be abrogated and annulled; which was read and referred to the select committee on that subject.

The resolution reported by the select committee to which was referred the petition of William E. Richmond and others for an amendment of the city charter of Providence, was recommended to that committee for amendment.

Mr. Bradley of Providence introduced a bill authorizing the Secretary of State to administer oaths; which was read and referred to the Committee on the Judiciary.

Mr. Manchester of Portsmouth introduced a bill to prevent fast driving in certain parts of the town of Portsmouth; which was read and passed.

Mr. Johnson from the Committee on Corporations, reported a resolution continuing, until the next session of the General Assembly, the petition of William G. Smith and others for amendment of the charter of the Scituate and Foster Turnpike Company; which was read and passed.

Mr. Bennet, from the Committee on Education, reported a resolution appropriating annually the sum of $1000, for the term of three years, to enable the Rhode Island Art Association to establish a school of design.

The resolution was supported by Messrs. Bennet, Greene, Farnum, and Clarke of Providence, Mr. Saunders of Scituate, Mr. Stines of North Providence, and opposed by Mr. Wheaton of Providence, Messrs. Van Zandt and Sheffield of Newport.

Before coming to a vote thereon the House adjourned.

The Paris correspondent of the Times speaking of the late attempted assassination of Louis Napoleon says: It is reported that one of the prisoners, Rodin, has turned State's evidence, and that, in his confession, he has revealed a plot that does not offer a very smiling prospect for the Emperor. According to Rodin's confession, the conspirators were five hundred in number. They are bound to their work by a terrible oath, and their object is the assassination of Louis Napoleon. Each year, or oftener, if circumstances will warrant the attempt, the whole band are to draw lots from a box, in which there will be five winning numbers. The five drawing these are held to put in immediate execution an attempt upon the Emperor's life, which shall be approved by the whole society, and by those who are charged with its execution. The society has plenty of money for carrying out its designs.

Rachel wrote down, a few days before her death, to please a distinguished gentleman who desired her autograph, these words:—"In a week from now I shall begin to be devoured by the worms and biographers." And so it happened.
